INDEX

A

Academy of Human Resource Development (AHRD): adult education and, 156–157; bridge area of HRD and, 449; criticisms of, 156; HRD research and, 153–156; lesbian, gay, bisexual, and transgender issues and, 153–158; Scholar-Practitioner Committee of, 451; seminal theories of, 437–441

Accommodation approach, to organizational change, 531

Academy of Human Resource Development and, 156–157

Adult education, criticisms of HRD by, 156

Affective commitment: definition of, 324; performance appraisals and, 324; role definition and, 325; social exchange theory and, 324. See also Commitment

Agreeableness, motivation to transfer and, 12, 15–16

"Alternative Approach to Conceptualizing Interviews in HRD Research, An," 179–210

Applied theory-building research, grounded approach to conceptual development phase of (study): action steps, 83; component 1: identify and understand alternative theory-building research processes, 67–68, 82–83; component 2: identify and resolve paradigmatic issues, 68, 84–85; component 3: identify and resolve core theory issues, 68, 84–85; component 4: identify and resolve preliminary research design issues, 68–69, 85; component 5: identify and select the appropriate modeling process, 69, 85; components of, 66–69; conceptual development and, 64; conceptual development process/components and, 64, 66–69, 82–85; conclusions, 87–88; contextual environment and, 66 fig.; core theories as key issue and, 76–77; data collection/analysis, 71, 75–82; discussion, 82–85; emergence of core theories and, 77–78; findings, 65–69; future research and, 87–88; grounded theory development and, 63–64, 76–81; HRD implications, 87–88; human capital transformation model and, 64, 77–78, 82–85; impact of five-component model and, 85, 87; importance of core theory issues and, 76–77; limitations, 86–97; literature review and, 70; Lynham's General Method of Theory-Building Research in Applied Disciplines, 82, 84; methods, 69–71; monoparadigm theory-building research process and, 71–75; narrowing scope of core theories and, 79–81; need for explicit theory-building research and, 63–64; partial theory-building research process and, 72–75; research questions, 64–65; social capital and, 79–81; theory-building research in applied disciplines and, 72–74 tab.; theory-practice link and, 69; time and, 85. See also Applied theory-building research, methods for completing conceptual development stage of; Conceptual development, in theory building; Theory-building research

Applied theory-building research, methods for completing conceptual development stage of: case for theory-in-use and, 501–502; five-components model of (Storberg-Walker), 503, 505 fig., 516–520; future research on, 522; gaps in theory-building literature and, 504, 505 fig.; General Method of Theory-Building Research in Applied Disciplines (Lynham), 502, 503 fig., 516; and human mind, 504; input-process-output model of, 521 fig., 522; modeling-as-theorizing model (Wetten), 503, 505 fig., 510–512; need for, in HRD, 501–502; overview of conceptual development and, 502–506; problem statements and, 507; scenario-planning model of conceptual development (Chermack), 503, 505 fig., 512–515; selection criteria and, 508–509; theory-building research and, 64, 500; theory-building-as-disciplined-imagination model (Weick), 503, 505 fig., 506–510. See also Applied theory-building research, grounded approach to conceptual development

Copyright © 2007 Wiley Periodicals, Inc.

phase of (study); Conceptual development; HRD research; HRD theory; Theory-building research
Articles: "An Alternative Approach to Conceptualizing Interviews in HRD Research," 179–210; "Convergent and Divergent Validity of the Learning Transfer System Inventory," 385–419; "Diversity Training: Analysis of the Impact of Self-Efficacy," 91–120; "Engaging in Personal Business on the Job: Extending the Presenteeism Construct," 361–383; "An Examination of Organizations' Frontline Service Employee Development Practices," 293–214; "Four Methods for Completing the Conceptual Development Phase of Applied Theory Building Research in HRD," 499–524;"The Impact of a Short Self-Management Training Intervention in a Retail Banking Environment," 159–178; "The Impact of Personality on Training-Related Aspects of Motivation: Test of a Longitudinal Model," 9–31; "The Impact of the Perceived Purpose of Electronic Performance Monitoring on an Array of Attitudinal Variables," 121–138; "The Impact of Workplace Attire on Employee Self-Perceptions," 345–360; "Incorporating Storytelling into Practice: How HRD Practitioners Foster Strategic Storytelling," 559–587; "A Multidimensional View of Resistance to Organizational Change: Exploring Cognitive, Emotional, and Intentional Responses to Planned Change Across Perceived Change Leadership Strategies," 525–558; "Organizational Learning as an Organization Development Intervention in Six High-Technology Firms in Taiwan: An Exploratory Case Study," 211–228; "Perceived Purposes of Performance Appraisal: Correlates of Individual- and Position-Focused Purposes on Attitudinal Outcomes," 315–343; "A Phenomenological Study of Spirituality and Learning Processes at Work: Exploring the Holistic Theory of Knowledge and Learning," 457–480; "Reactions to Skill Assessment: The Forgotten Factor in Explaining Motivation to Learn," 33–62; "The Relationship Between Satisfaction with Workplace Training and Overall Job Satisfaction," 481–498; "Understanding Interpersonal Interaction in an Online Professional Development Course," 253–274; "Understanding the Conceptual Development Phase of Applied Theory-Building Research: A Grounded Approach," 63–90; "Where to Now? Race and Ethnicity in Workplace Learning and Development Research: 1980–2005," 229–251
Assessment. See Motivation to learn, and skill assessment reactions (study); Needs assessment; Skill assessment
Attire. See Workplace attire; Workplace attire, and employee self-perceptions (study)
Attitudes: affect, behavior, and cognition as components of, 530; definition of, 530; tripartite theory of, 530

B

Bargaining approach, to organizational change, 531
Bates, R. A., "Convergent and Divergent Validity of the Learning Transfer System Inventory," 385–419
Behavior, self-perceptions and, 355–356
Bell, B. S., "Reactions to Skill Assessment: The Forgotten Factor in Explaining Motivation to Learn," 33–62
Bookter, A. I., "Convergent and Divergent Validity of the Learning Transfer System Inventory," 385–419
Brache, A., How Organizations Work: Taking a Holistic Approach to Enterprise Health, reviewed, 281–284
Brand image: consultants for, 357; workplace attire and, 346–347
Brooks, A. K., "Where to Now? Race and Ethnicity in Workplace Learning and Development Research: 1980–2005," 229–251
Business trends, current, 2
Byrd, M., "Educating and Developing Leaders of Racially Diverse Organizations," 275–279

C

Campbell's model of job performance, 318

Career development: definition of, 232; four elements of successful, 234; job training satisfaction and, 482; social networks and, 242; spirituality and, 458; workplace learning/development and, 232. See also Career development, and race/ethnicity; Training/development
Career development, and race/ethnicity: barriers to, 234; gender and, 235; management development programs and, 235; political factors and, 235; workplace survival strategies and, 235. See also Diversity training
Challenges, of organizations: collaboration and, 4, 6; customer connection and, 4, 7; efficiency and, 4, 7; innovation and, 4, 7; leadership brand and, 4–5; learning/new ideas and, 4–6; rapid change and, 3–4; shared mind-set/culture and, 3–4; strategic clarity and, 3–4; talent and, 4, 6–7. See also Nonprofit organizations (NPOs)
Chalofsky, N., "The Seminal Foundation of the Discipline of HRD: People, Learning, and Organizations," 431–442
Change. See Organizational change; Planned organizational change
Chermack, T. J., "Four Methods for Completing the Conceptual Development Phase of Applied Theory Building Research in HRD," 499–524
Chisholm, K., "Strategies for Publishing in Scholarly HRD Journals," 139–147
Citizenship behaviors. See Organizational citizenship behaviors (OCBs)
Class-based race theories, 231
Clothing. See Workplace attire, and employee self-perceptions (study)
Clunis, T., "Where to Now? Race and Ethnicity in Workplace Learning and Development Research: 1980–2005," 229–251
Coaching: definition of, 297; managerial, 297; organizational change and, 530; tripartite model of attitudes and, 530
Collaboration, HRD and, 4, 6
Combs, G. M., "Diversity Training: Analysis of the Impact of Self-Efficacy," 91–120
Commitment. See Organizational commitment
Community of Inquiry Model, 255–256
Community theory, race/ethnicity and, 244
Competition: globalization and, 287. See also Competitive advantage
Competitive advantage: customer service proficiency and, 293; employees as key to, 316–317; frontline employees and, 293–296; resource-based view or organizations and, 316. See also Competitive advantage
Computer-mediated communication (CMC), 255
Conceptual development phase, of applied theory-building research. See Applied theory-building research, grounded approach to conceptual development phase (study); Applied theory-building research, methods for completing conceptual development phase
"Conducting Research on LGBT Issues: Leading the Field All Over Again!" 153–158
Confidence, efficacy and, 97
Conflict and resistance, training programs and, 232
Conscientiousness, motivation to transfer and, 12, 16
Construct validation: convergent validity and, 388–389; divergent validity and, 388–389; goal of, 388, 413; nomological network mapping and, 389; objectives of, 388; process of, 388
Continuous organizational change, 527
"Convergent and Divergent Validity of the Learning Transfer System Inventory," 385–419
Convergent validity, 388
Conversation analysis (CA) approach, 182, 185–188
Creative thinking: HRD professionals and, 253–254; organizational value of, 253; workplace learning programs and, 253–254; Mezirow's definition of, 582
Critical reflection: storytelling and, 563–564, 582–583; transformative learning and, 563
Critical thinking: helpers in, 563; storytelling and, 563–564, 583; transformative learning and, 563–564
Culture. See Organizational culture
Customer contact employees. See Frontline service employees (FLSEs)
Customer service: competitive advantage and, 293–294. See also Frontline service employee development practices, and customer service outcomes (study)

D

D'Abate, C. P., "Engaging in Personal Business on the Job: Extending the Presenteeism Construct," 361–383
Democratization, globalization and, 286–287
Dialogue, storytelling and, 565
Discipline: characteristics of, 435–436; as community, 435, 437; communications network of, 436; definition of, 434; as domain, 435; history/traditions of, 435; HRD and, 432–434, 436–437; human imagination and, 435; literature heritage of, 436; mode of inquiry and, 436; scholarly debate and, 434; specialized language of, 436; theoretical structure of, 436; as valuative, 436–437
Distributive justice, definition of, 231
Divergent validity, 388
Diversity: definition of, 91; in organizations, 231–232; racial challenges and, 276; ways of framing, 230. See also Diversity self-efficacy (DSE); Diversity training; Workplace diversity; Workplace learning, and race/ethnicity (study)
Diversity self-efficacy (DSE), 93, 104, 106, 108–112, 114–115. See also Diversity training, and self-efficacy (study); Self-efficacy
Diversity training: assessing outcomes of, 92, 94; content/design of, 95; diversity initiatives and, 94; effectiveness of, 94–95, 115; framing of, and employee attitudes, 122; lesbian, gay, bisexual, and transgender people and, 153–154; lessened effectiveness of, 230–231; organizational challenges and, 92, 94, 115; organizational race/ethnicity and, 230; self-efficacy and, 95, 97–98; trainee intentions and, 95; training transfer and, 92; ways of framing diversity and, 230. See also Diversity self-efficacy (DSE); Diversity training, self-efficacy and (study); Workplace diversity
"Diversity Training: Analysis of the Impact of Self-Efficacy," 91–120
Diversity training, self-efficacy and (study): background, 91–99; Bandura's self-efficacy components and, 97–98, 111, 114; conclusion, 115–116; definition of terms, 91–93; discussion, 111–115; diversity self-efficacy and, 93, 104, 106, 108–112, 114–115; follow-up questionnaire, 105, 110–111; future research, 114; HRD implications and, 93, 115; hypotheses, 92, 96–99, 106, 108–109; intentions and, 95–96, 111–112; measures, 104; method, 99–105; organizational culture and, 95, 114; participants, 99; procedures, 100–104; purpose, 93; results, 106–111; self-efficacy–diversity training interface and, 95; self-efficacy–diversity training–intentions interface and, 98–99; self-efficacy–intentions–behavior relationship and, 95–96; study limitations, 113–114; training transfer and, 96–98
Dobbs, K. S., review by, 281–284
Dream analysis, HRD and, 1
"Dreams: Where Human Resource Development Is Headed to Deliver Value," 1–8
"Dynamic Interactions Between Two Models of Team Development and Learning: Implications for Performance and Human Resource Managers," 421–430

E

E-learning programs: computer-mediated communication and, 255; cost advantages of, 254; poor outcomes of, 254; presenteeism and, 366–367; research on social dimensions of, 254–255; studies on, 254–255. See also Online professional development, and interpersonal interaction (study); Technology
Eddy, E. R., "Engaging in Personal Business on the Job: Extending the Presenteeism Construct," 361–383
Editorial: "Conducting Research on LGBT Issues: Leading the Field All Over Again! 153–158; "Dreams: Where Human Resource Development Is Headed to Deliver Value," 1–8; "Globalization: Fight It, or Embrace and Purify It?" 285–291; "Is HRD Research Making a Difference in Practice?" 449–455

"Educating and Developing Leaders of Racially Diverse Organizations," 275–279
Efficiency, of HRD professionals, 4, 7
Electronic performance monitoring (EPM): administrative vs. developmental purpose and, 123, 125, 133–134; as digital Taylorism, 122, 133; employee stress and, 122; feedback sign/tone and, 125; methods of, 121
Electronic performance monitoring, and employee attitude (study): administrative vs. developmental purpose and, 123, 125, 133–134; background, 123–128; conclusion, 135–136; discussion, 133–135; future research, 134, 136; HRD implications and, 133–134; hypotheses, 126–128; measures, 128–130; method, 128–130; participants, 128; perceived and intended purpose and, 123; perceived purpose and fairness and, 126, 128–129, 131; perceived purpose and felt obligation to reciprocate and, 127, 129, 131; perceived purpose and job satisfaction and, 124–127, 129, 131; perceived purpose and organizational commitment and, 129, 131; performance appraisal purposes/outcomes and, 123–126; procedure, 128; purpose, 122; respondent demographics, 128, 131; results, 130–132; study limitations, 134–135; theoretical model of purpose and job attitudes and, 124. See also Electronic performance monitoring (EPM); Monitoring; Performance appraisal
Ellinger, A. D., "An Examination of Organizations' Frontline Service Employee Development Practices," 293–214
Ellinger, A. E., "An Examination of Organizations' Frontline Service Employee Development Practices," 293–214
Elmadağ, A. B., "An Examination of Organizations' Frontline Service Employee Development Practices," 293–214
Employee motivation, job training and, 483–484, 494, 496
Employee performance: Campbell's model of job, 318; heterosexuality and, 154; motivation and, 390–391; performance and, 376; personality factors and, 390; self-management and, 162–163; self-management training and, 162, 169–172–175; transactive memory system and, 175; workplace attire and, 349, 353, 355. See also Performance appraisals
Employees: behavior and self-perceptions of, 355–356; competitive advantage and, 316–317; increase of temporary, 496; looks and earning power of, 356; perceptions of workplace by, 317–318. See also Frontline service employees (FLSEs); Workplace attire, and employee self-perceptions (study)
Empowerment: definition of, 295; frontline service employee, 294–296; job characteristics theory and, 295; job performance and, 295
"Engaging in Personal Business on the Job: Extending the Presenteeism Construct," 361–383
Enterprise model, 281, 282 fig., 283
Episodic organizational change, 527
Ethnicity-based race theories, 231
Ethnomethodological approach, to qualitative data analysis (study): assumptions, 182; challenges/lessons learned, 202–203; conclusion, 206; conversation analysis approach and, 182, 185–188, 202–204; discussion, 199–203; ethnomethodology approach and, 182, 185, 191, 203–204; holistic treatment of data in, 200, 203; HRD implications, 203–206; interview analysis example, 188–199; interviewer's role in co-construction of results and, 181, 200, 202–205; interviews as accounts and, 188; interviews as morally laden portrayals and, 188, 200, 202; interviews as socially situated occasions and, 188, 202; membership categorization analysis approach and, 185–186, 203; need for multiple analysis techniques and, 181, 204; problem statement, 180–182; purpose, 182–183; qualitative analysis of interviews and, 180; review of qualitative analysis approaches and, 183–188; study contributions, 205–206; study design implications and, 205–206; usefulness of approach and, 182–183; ways of employing, 188. See also HRD research; Qualitative data analysis, in HRD research; Qualitative studies

Ethnomethodology (EM) approach, 182, 185
"Examination of Organizations' Frontline Service Employee Development Practices, An," 293–214

F

Fairness, of performance appraisal system, 126
Feedback, employee behavior and, 133
Feedback sign, 125
Feedback tone, 125
Felt obligation to reciprocate, 127
Five-components model of conceptual development (Storberg-Walker), 503, 505 fig.; description of, 516–519; limitations of, 520; step 1: examine alternative theory-building are search perspectives/processes, 516–517; step 2: resolve paradigmatic issues, 517; step 3: resolve foundational theory issues, 517–518; step 4: resolve preliminary research design issues, 518; step 5: select appropriate modeling process, 518–519; strategies for resolving paradoxes and, 518; strengths of, 520; visual model of, 519 fig.
For-profit organizations, trends in, 1–2
Ford, J. K., "Reactions to Skill Assessment: The Forgotten Factor in Explaining Motivation to Learn," 33–62
Formal learning, 232–233
Formal training: definition of, 296; of frontline service employees, 296–297; organizational values and, 297
Forum: "Dynamic Interactions Between Two Models of Team Development and Learning: Implications for Performance and Human Resource Managers," 421–430
"Educating and Developing Leaders of Racially Diverse Organizations," 275–279; "Rosie the Riveter: A Training Perspective," 589–597; "The Seminal Foundation of the Discipline of HRD: People, Learning, and Organizations," 431–442; "Strategies for Publishing in Scholarly HRD Journals," 139–147
"Four Methods for Conpleting the Conceptual Development Phase of Applied Theory Building Research in HRD," 499–524
Framing, of diversity, 122
Free Online Surveys Knowledgebase, reviewed, 149–151
Freedom, globalization and, 286
Freeze, O. C., review by, 281–284
Frontline service employee development practices, and customer service outcomes (study): autonomy and, 295, 308; coaching of, 297, 299–301, 304, 306–307; conceptual model and 297, 298 fig.; conclusion, 308–310; data analysis, 300–303; data collection, 300; data limitations, 309; demographic variables and, 299, 303–304, 306; development of, 296–297, 308–309; discussion, 307–308; employee performance and, 295–297, 299–301, 304, 306–309; empowerment of, 294–296, 299–301, 304, 306–309; formal training of, 296–297, 299–301, 304, 306; future research, 309–310; hypotheses, 296–297; implications, 308; instrumentation, 299–300; job characteristics theory and, 295–296; limitations, 309; literature review and, 294–297; measures, 310–311; need for, 294; organizational citizenship behaviors, 296, 299, 300–301, 304, 306–307, 309; purpose, 294; research context, 299; research design, 297–300; sample, 300; testing hypotheses and, 303–306. See also Customer service; Frontline service employees (FLSEs)
Frontline service employees (FLSEs): autonomy and, 295, 308; coaching of, 297; competitive advantage and, 293–296; customer service proficiency and, 293–295; definition of, 294; development of, 296–297; empowerment of, 294–296; formal training of, 296–297, 308–310; HRD interventions and, 294; job training satisfaction and, 486, 492–494; work effectiveness of, 296

G

Gallagher, S. J., "A Phenomenological Study of Spirituality and Learning Processes at Work: Exploring the Holistic Theory of Knowledge and Learning," 457–480

Gedro, J., "Conducting Research on LGBT Issues: Leading the Field All Over Again! 153–158
Gender: career development of racial minorities and, 235; mentoring and, 241; social networks and, 242–243; training and, 236. See also Women
General Method of Theory-Building Research in Applied Disciplines (Lynham), 502, 503 fig., 516
Githens, R. P., "Understanding Interpersonal Interaction in an Online Professional Development Course," 253–274
Global markets, benefits of, 286
Global organizations, diversity issues and, 92
Global positioning monitoring, of employees, 122
Globalization: benefits of, 286–288; Berlin wall and, 286; competition and, 287; critics of, 286; democratization and, 286–287; economic growth and, 287–289; educational opportunities and, 289–290; freedom and, 286; negative elements of, 286; poverty and, 287–289; third world countries before, 285–286; workplace learning and, 485; world peace and, 287–288, 290
"Globalization: Fight It, or Embrace and Purify It?" 285–291
Grounded theory: core theories and, 76–77; data collection in, 69–70; definition of, 63–64; definition of, 63–64; developmental nature of, 86; theory-building process and, 76–81; theory-practice link and, 69. See also Applied theory-building research, conceptual development phase of (study); HRD research

H

Hall, J., "Dynamic Interactions Between Two Models of Team Development and Learning: Implications for Performance and Human Resource Managers," 421–430
Holistic learning theory: conceptualization and, 474; contextualization and, 474; emancipatory knowledge and, 460; explicit knowledge and, 460; implicit knowledge and, 460; interaction of knowledge facets and, 471; knowledge facets in, 459–460, 466–467, 469; learning processes in, 459–460, 467; model of, 474 fig.; one-dimensional learning and, 467; revised model of, 475–476 fig.; role of community and, 468; spirituality dimension of learning and, 458–459; unitary knowledge and, 459
Holton III, E. F., "Convergent and Divergent Validity of the Learning Transfer System Inventory," 385–419
Homosexuals. See Lesbian, gay, bisexual, and transgender (LGBT) people
How Organizations Work: Taking a Holistic Approach to Enterprise Health, reviewed, 281–284
HRD interventions, financial impact of, 453
HRD practitioners. See HRD professionals
HRD professionals: anti-globalization attitudes of, 286–289; as carriers of organizational culture, 4–5; as change facilitator, 3–4; as collaborators, 4, 6; cost managers, 4, 7; current business/organizational trends and, 2; customer connections and, 4, 7; economic growth and, 287–289; efficiency of, 4, 7; encouraging political development and, 288–289; global leadership role of, 290; human resource management and, 446–447; as innovators, 4, 7; job training satisfaction and, 482; leadership brand and, 4–5; as learning organizers, 4, 6; organizational culture and, 345–346; presenteeism and, 362–363, 376–378; promoting educational opportunities and, 289–290; promoting global knowledge and, 289–290; promoting global well-being and, 290; stakeholders and, 2; strategic planning by, 3; as talent guarantors, 4, 6–7; team learning/development models and, 427–428; training transfer and, 385–386, 414; use of theory by, 502; work-life balance issues, 364–365, 367, 376, 378; workplace attire and, 356–357. See also Strategic storytelling, by HRD practitioners (study)
HRD research: Academy of Human Resource Development and, 153–156; addressing practitioners' needs and,

450–451; affective revolution in, 552–553; co-construction of results in, 181–182; holistic treatment of data in, 200, 203; holistic treatment of data in, 200, 203; impact analysis and, 453; lack of critical assessment in, 182; Lesbian, gay, bisexual, and transgender (LGBT) people and, 153–158; need for best practices for, 451; need for multiple analysis techniques and, 181, 204; phenomenological trends and, 452–453; practice implications and, 454; problems with qualitative approach in, 180–182; queer theory and, 154, 157; research-to-practice manuscript checklist and, 452–453; snapshots and graphical representations of, 453–454; stories/case studies and, 454–455; summary/conclusions and, 455; theory building and, 204; trend toward qualitative studies in, 180; usability of, 451–452; usefulness for HRD practice and, 450–451; usefulness for researchers of, 450. See also Applied theory-building research, methods for completing conceptual development stage of; Conceptual development; Ethnomethodological approach, to qualitative data analysis (study); Human Resource Development Quarterly (HRDQ); Qualitative data analysis, in HRD research; Qualitative studies; Research, publication of; Scholar-practitioners; Theory-building research; and by specific topic

HRD theory: need for theory-building research in, 63. See also Applied theory-building research, methods for completing conceptual development stage of; Conceptual development, in theory building; Theory-building research

Human capital theory, training research and, 236

Human capital transformation model, 64

Human resistance: definition of, 526; one-dimensional studies of, 526; to planned organizational change, 526. See also Planned organizational change, resistance to (study)

Human resource development (HRD): as discipline, 432–437; definitions of, 481–482; dream analysis and, 1; evolution of field of, 432–433; globalization and, 287–290; human resource management and, 446; humanistic perspective and, 434; humanistic view of, 447; interdisciplinary foundation of, 431–432; international, 446; lack of agreed-on definition of, 434; leadership and, 277–278; learning perspective and, 434; multidisciplinary nature of, 433; as people-driven process, 276–277; performance perspective and, 434; as problem-oriented discipline, 276; racial workplace conflict and, 277–278; in third world countries, 285; unique body of knowledge of, 432. See also Challenges, of organizations; HRD professionals; HRD research; HRD theory; Nonprofit organizations (NPOs); Value focus, of organizations

Human Resource Development Quarterly (HRDQ): goal of, 450–451; practitioners and, 450; scholars and, 450. See also HRD research

Human resource management (HRM): agency theory and, 444; compensation strategy and, 445; efficiency-effectiveness balance and, 444; employer-employee psychological contract and, 445; global strategies for, 444–445; HRD and, 446; importance of social environment and, 445–446; institution theory and, 444; resource-based theory and, 444; stakeholders in, 443; transaction cost economics and, 444; types of organizations and, 443

Hung, R. Y., "Organizational Learning as an Organization Development Intervention in Six High-Technology Firms in Taiwan: An Exploratory Case Study," 211–228

I

"Impact of a Short Self-Management Training Intervention in a Retail Banking Environment, The," 159–178

"Impact of Personality on Training-Related Aspects of Motivation: Test of a Longitudinal Model, The," 9–31

"Impact of the Perceived Purpose of Electronic Performance Monitoring on an Array of Attitudinal Variables, The," 121–138

"Impact of Workplace Attire on Employee Self-Perceptions, The," 345–360
Incentive approach, to organizational change, 531
"Incorporating Storytelling into Practice: How HRD Practitioners Foster Strategic Storytelling," 559–587
Individual-focused performance appraisals, 316. See also Performance appraisals
Informal learning: of managers, 232–233; workplace conditions promoting, 232–234
Information technology (IT), job training and, 482
Innovation, HRD and, 4, 7
Input-process-output model of conceptual development, 521 fig., 522
Instability, motivation to transfer and, 12, 15
Instructional system design (ISD): assessment/evaluation phases and, 149; free online surveys and, 149; training and, 149
Instrumental voice, performance evaluation and, 324
Intentions: future behaviors and, 96; self-efficacy and, 95–96
Interpersonal interaction, e-learning and, 254–255. See also E-learning programs; Online professional development, and interpersonal interaction (study); Social interdependence; Social presence
Interview analysis. See Qualitative data analysis, in HRD research
Interviews: as accounts and, 188; as morally laden portrayals and, 188; qualitative studies and, 180; as socially situated occasions and, 188. See also Qualitative data analysis, in HRD research
Introversion, motivation to transfer and, 12, 14–15
"Is HRD Research Making a Difference in Practice?" 449–455

J

Job characteristics theory (JCT), 295–296
Job performance. See Performance
Job satisfaction: administrative decisions and, 323–324; definition of, 483; developmental use of appraisal and, 325; employee commitment and, 322; individual control and, 324–325; job training and, 482; job training satisfaction and, 493; mentoring and, 484; multiple perspectives of, 483; perceived purpose of performance monitoring and, 124–127, 129, 131; performance appraisal purpose and, 324; purpose of performance appraisal and, 124–127, 129, 131; research on, 484; role definition and, 322–323; satisfaction with job facets and, 323. See also Job training satisfaction, and job satisfaction (study)
Job training: career development and, 482; customer contact employees and, 486, 492–494; definition of, 483; employee attitudes and, 484; IT professionals and, 482; job satisfaction and, 482; organizational commitment/motivation and, 483–484, 494; organizational performance and, 494
Job training satisfaction: definition of, 483; job satisfaction and, 493; organizational commitment/motivation and, 483–484, 494, 496; studies on, 484–485. See also Job training satisfaction, and job satisfaction (study)
Job training satisfaction, and job satisfaction (study): customer contact employees and, 486, 492–494; customer satisfaction and, 494, 496; data analysis, 489; data collection, 489; definitions of terms and, 483; discussion, 493–494; employee attitudes and, 484; future research and, 496–497; global economy and, 485; HRD implications, 495–497; HRD professionals role and, 482, 495–496; instrumentation, 486–489; job satisfaction questionnaire and, 488 tab.; Job Satisfaction Survey and, 486; Job Training and Job Satisfaction Survey and, 486; job training questionnaire and, 487 tab.; job training satisfaction and, 483; limitations, 494–495; literature review and, 483–485; mentoring and, 484; method, 485; organizational commitment/motivation and, 483–484, 494, 496; purpose, 485, 492; reliability and, 488–489, 495; research question 1: job training satisfaction and job satisfaction, 489–491, 493–494, 496; research question 2: training time, type, and methodology and training satisfaction, 490–491, 493–494, 496; research question 3: preferred training method and training method employed, 491–494; research questions, 485, 489–491; results, 489–492; sample, 486, 494–495; surveys of job training satisfaction and, 482; training/development mission of HRD and, 481–482, 494; validity and, 487–488, 495. See also Job satisfaction; Job training satisfaction; Organizational performance

Jones, R. G., "Perceived Purposes of Performance Appraisal: Correlates of Individual- and Position-Focused Purposes on Attitudinal Outcomes," 315–343

K

Karl, K., "The Impact of Workplace Attire on Employee Self-Perceptions," 345–360

Keefer, J., "Is HRD Research Making a Difference in Practice?" 449–455

Klobas, J. E., "The Impact of a Short Self-Management Training Intervention in a Retail Banking Environment," 159–178

Knowledge: acquisition, 460; creation of, 460; emancipatory, 460; explicit, 460; HRD role in encouraging global, 289–290; implicit, 460; importance of, 289; learning processes and, 460; transformation, 460, 477; as unitary, 459. See also Holistic theory of knowledge and learning; Knowledge management; Learning at work, and spirituality (study)

Knowledge, skills, and abilities (KSAs), 318–319

Knowledge management: social process of, 566; storytelling and, 565–566

Kopp, D. M., "Rosie the Riveter: A Training Perspective," 589–597

Korte, R., review by, 443–448

L

Landorf, H., "A Phenomenological Study of Spirituality and Learning Processes at Work: Exploring the Holistic Theory of Knowledge and Learning," 457–480

Leadership development: addressing racial differences through, 277–278; HRD and, 277–278; lifelong process, 277–278; and management development, 278; race relations workshops and, 278

Leadership strategies, for planned organizational change: Chin and Benne's three-theory taxonomy, 527–529; normative-reeducative, 528–529; power-coercive, 529, 532–534; rational-empirical, 527–528, 531–532; taxonomies of, 529. See also Normative-reeducative change leadership strategies; Power-coercive change leadership strategies; Planned organizational change, resistance to (study); Rational-empirical change leadership strategies

Learners, spirituality and, 458

Learning: fluid nature of, 477; observational, 563; as social, 468; spirituality and, 458, 478. See also Holistic theory of knowledge and learning; Learning at work, and spirituality (study); Transformative learning; Workplace learning, and race/ethnicity (study)

Learning at work, and spirituality (study): role of community and, 468–469; background and, 457–459; challenges to holistic theory's tenets, 473–477; coding rubric, 464 tab.; conclusion, 478; data analysis overview and, 462–463; data analysis steps and, 463, 465; data collection and, 462; data sources and, 460–462; definition of spirituality and, 458; difficulty in describing interactions and, 466–467; difficulty in understanding steps and, 467; discussion of emergent theme and, 470–471; discussion of six observations and, 466–470; fluid nature of learning and, 477; future research and, 477, 478; holistic learning theory and, 458–459; HRD implications, 477–478; inadequacy of one-dimensional learning and, 467–468; integrity measures and, 465–466; knowledge facets initiate learning and, 469; mechanisms of facet interaction: to change, 472; mechanisms of facet interaction: to express, 471; mechanisms of facet interaction:

to guide, 472–473; mechanisms of facet interaction: to inform, 471–472; participants and, 461–462; population background and, 460–461; primary research and, 462; purpose, 459; research design and, 460–466; research questions and, 459; revised model of holistic learning theory and, 475–476 figs.; sample selection and, 461; study limitations and, 463; theoretical framework and, 459–460. See also Holistic theory of knowledge and learning; Spirituality; Spirituality, in the workplace

Learning/development: career development and, 232; community inquiry model, 255; definition of, 232–233; importance of teaching presence and, 256; informal and formal aspects of, 232–233; managerial, 232; social/collaborative, 254. See also E-learning programs; Formal learning; Informal learning; Learning; Learning at work, and spirituality (study); Managerial learning/development; Online professional development, and interpersonal interaction (study); Workplace learning, and race/ethnicity (study)

Learning organization, HRD as, 4, 6

Learning processes, knowledge acquisition and, 460

Learning style, of executives, 453

Learning transfer system inventory (LTSI): action research and, 414; advantages of, 387; construct validation and, 388–389; convergent validity and, 388–389; criterion validity studies and, 387–388; cross-cultural validity of, 387; development of, 385, 387; divergent validity and, 388–389; evaluation theory and, 385; nomological network mapping and, 389; training transfer and, 386–387, 413–415; validation of, 387

Learning transfer system inventory, convergent/divergent validity of (study): ability elements and, 394; administrative procedures and, 397; Alienation from Work Scale and, 408; association between scales and comparison measures and, 396, 400, 408–409, 412–413; background of instrument and, 385–388; comparison measures and, 394, 395–396 tab., 400–408; conclusion, 413–415; Critical Psychological States measure and, 406; data analysis, 397, 400; environmental factors and, 393; excluded scales and, 408; Facet-Specific Job Satisfaction measure and, 404–405; factor structure analysis and, 409; future research and, 415; Group Process Scale and, 406–407; Index of Organizational Reactions and, 403–404; inventory of LTSI domains, 393–394; Job Descriptive Index and, 401–402; Job Dimensions scale and, 407; KEYS Environmental Scales and, 402; Leaders Reward Behavior Scale and, 404; LTSI scale definitions, 398–399 tab.; Manifest Needs Questionnaire and, 405; Mastery Scale and, 407; measurement instruments and, 397; methodology, 392–400; motivational factors and, 392–393; nomological network of factors and, 410–411 tab.; PANAS instrument and, 408; Perceived Work Environment measure and, 402–403; practice implications, 414–415; research implications, 415; research questions, 389, 394, 396–397, 400; results, 400–413; sample, 396–397; scales comparisons and, 412; secondary influences and, 393; Self-Efficacy Scale and, 405–406; study objectives and, 389; Task-Goal Attributes measure and, 407–408; Work Environment Scale and, 401; Work-Related Expectancies Scale and, 405. See also Learning transfer system inventory (LTSI); Training transfer

Leiva, P. I., "Perceived Purposes of Performance Appraisal: Correlates of Individual- and Position-Focused Purposes on Attitudinal Outcomes," 315–343

Lesbian, gay, bisexual, and transgender (LGBT) people: Academy of Human Resource Development and issues concerning, 153–158; career selection and, 154; diversity training and, 153–154; HRD research and, 153–157; job benefits and, 154; performance and, 154; queer theory and, 154, 157

Lien, B. Y., "Organizational Learning as an Organization Development Intervention in Six High-Technology Firms in Taiwan: An Exploratory Case Study," 211–228

Luthans, F., "Diversity Training: Analysis of the Impact of Self-Efficacy," 91–120

M

McLean, G. N., "Organizational Learning as an Organization Development Intervention in Six High-Technology Firms in Taiwan: An Exploratory Case Study," 211–228

Management by Objectives (MBO), definition of, 321

Management jobs, developmental aspects of, 232

Management training/development: and leadership development, 278; race/ethnicity and, 236; women and, 236. See also Online professional development, and interpersonal interaction (study)

Managerial coaching, 297

Managerial learning/development, 232

Managers, performance appraisal of, 236. See also Management training; Performance appraisals

Marquardt, M. J., "Globalization: Fight It, or Embrace and Purify It?" 285–291;

Meaning making, storytelling and, 566

Membership categorization analysis (MCA) approach, 185–186

Mental rehearsal, Bandura's model of, 563

Mentoring: benefits to employees of, 240–241; compensation and, 241; formal, 241; gender and, 241; job satisfaction and, 484; race/ethnicity and, 240–242; tabooed feelings in, 241–242

Minorities. See Lesbian, gay, bisexual, and transgender (LGBT) people; Race/ethnicity; Women; Workplace learning, and race/ethnicity (study)

Modeling-as-theorizing model (Wetten), 503, 505 fig.; application of, 511–512; description of, 510–511; limitations of, 512; step 1: "what" as construct, 510; step 2: "how" as relationship, 510–511; step 3: "why" as conceptual assumption, 511; step 4: "when, where, and who" as contextual assumptions, 511; strengths of, 512

Monitoring: definition of, 122; of employees by employers, 121–122; global position for, 122; purpose of, and job attitudes, 124; studies on, 125. See also Electronic performance monitoring (EPM); Monitoring; Performance appraisals

Moorman, R. H., "The Impact of the Perceived Purpose of Electronic Performance Monitoring on an Array of Attitudinal Variables," 121–138

Motivation. See Employee motivation; Motivation, training-related aspects of; Motivation to learn; Motivation to learn, and skill assessment (study); Motivation to transfer; Training motivation, personality variables and (study)

Motivation, training-related aspects of: agreeableness and, 12, 15–16; attitudes toward training and, 11; conscientiousness and, 12, 16; framing of training and, 11; introversion and, 12, 14–15; motivation to learn and, 10–11; motivation to transfer and, 10–11; openness to experience and, 12, 16; personality variables and, 11–12. See also Job training satisfaction; Training motivation, personality variables and (study)

Motivation to learn: definition of, 10; enhancing, 10; influences on, 10; Noe model on, 36–37; personality factors and, 40–42, 55; personality variables and, 11–12; self-efficacy and, 42, 46, 55; theoretical model and, 12–17; training and, 10–11. See also Motivation to learn, and skill assessment reactions (study); Training motivation, personality variables and (study)

Motivation to learn, and skill assessment reactions (study): analyses, 46; assessment performance and, 40, 44, 55; background, 33–35; behavioral intentions and, 46, 55; conceptual model, 34–35; discussion, 54–59; distributive justice perceptions and, 38–39, 45, 55; future research, 55, 58; goal orientation and, 40–41, 45, 55; HRD implications, 58–59; hypotheses, 39–42, 49, 51, 53–54; individual characteristics/factors and, 40–42, 55; limitations, 57–58; literature review, 36–42; measures, 44–46; method, 42–46; performance-avoid orientation and, 41–42, 55–56; performance-prove orientation and, 41–42, 55; procedure, 43–44; purpose, 34–35; reactions to skill assessment and, 36–40; results, 46–54; self-efficacy and, 42, 46, 55; training context and, 36, 56; training effectiveness and, 36; training outcomes and, 42; utility perceptions and, 39–40, 45, 55

Motivation to transfer, training and, 10–11
"Multidimensional View of Resistance to Organizational Change: Exploring Cognitive, Emotional, and Intentional Responses to Planned Change Across Perceived Change Leadership Strategies, A," 525–558

N

Narratives, storytelling as, 565–566
Nation-based race theories, 231
Needs assessment: training/development and, 34. See also Motivation to learn, and skill assessment reactions (study)
Network groups, 243. See also Social networks
Networks. See Social networks
Nomological network, 389
Nonprofit organizations (NPOs): collaboration and, 4, 6; current challenges of, 3–7. current context/trends of, 1–2; customer connection and, 4, 7; efficiency and, 4, 7; innovation and, 4, 7; leadership brand and, 4–5; learning/new ideas and, 4–6; rapid change and, 3–4; shared mindset/culture and, 3–4; strategic clarity and, 3–4; talent and, 4, 6–7
Nonwork-related presenteeism, organizational outcomes of (study): business costs and, 366, 371–372, 375; commitment/intent to stay and, 371, 376; data collection, 367–368; efficiency and, 371, 376; extent of, 369, 372, 375; future research and, 379–380; HRD implications, 362–363, 377–378; HRD professionals and, 362–363, 376–378; job satisfaction and, 371, 376; literature review, 363–367; measures, 369–372; method, 367–369; need for, 363; organizational impact of, 365–366; participants, 368–369; performance and, 364, 371, 376; practice implications, 376–377; procrastination and, 371, 376; purpose, 363; research questions, 366, 367, 375–376; sample, 367–368; study limitations, 378–379; types of activities and, 366, 373–374 tab., 375–376; work outcomes and, 369–372. See also Nonwork-related presenteeism; Presenteeism
Nonwork-related presenteeism: benefits of, 367; business costs and, 366, 375; definition of, 362; efficiency and, 376; employee performance and, 366, 376; extent of, 369, 375; HRD and, 362–363, 376–378; job satisfaction and, 376; realms of, 365–366; reasons for, 379; technology and, 366–367; theoretical background of, 364–366; types of, 375–376; work-life balance and, 364–365, 367, 376; work outcomes and, 366–367. See also Nonwork-related presenteeism, organizational outcomes of (study); Presenteeism
Normative-reeducative change leadership strategies: assumptions of, 529; participation studies and, 533–534; participative involvement and, 532–533; philosophical basis of, 528–529; success of, 532–533; types of participation and, 533

O

Observational learning, storytelling and, 563
One-dimensional learning, 467
Online learning: social presence and, 256; social/collaborative learning and, 254. See also E-learning programs; Online professional development, and interpersonal interaction (study)
Online professional development, and interpersonal interaction (study): case study issues and, 257–258; conclusions, 270–273; course evaluation and, 264–265; data gathering/analysis, 258–260; discussion board posting analysis and, 264; findings, 260–270; future research, 272–273; limitations, 270–271; methods, 256–260; narrative case description and, 260–264; practice implications, 271–272; qualitative case study approach and, 256; setting, 257; study themes and, 265–270 theme 1: importance of sharing case-based knowledge, 265–266; theme 3:

conflicting attitudes from learning enthusiasts, 267–268; theme 4: little social presence without facilitator's modeling, 268–269; theme 5: engagement by apparently inactive participants, 269; theme 6: intellectual safety in being online, 269–270; theoretical framework, 255–256. See also Online learning
Online surveys: advantages of, 150–151; advantages/drawbacks of, 149–150; costs of, 150; instructional system design and, 149–150; types of, 150
Openness to experience, motivation to transfer and, 12, 16
Organizational behavior theory, role definition and, 320–321
Organizational change: cognition and, 530; continuous, 527; episodic, 527; fast-paced, 3–4; in work environment, 33. See also Planned organizational change, resistance to (study)
Organizational citizenship behaviors (OCBs), 296, 319
Organizational commitment: job satisfaction and, 322; perceived purpose and job satisfaction and, 124–127, 129, 131; performance appraisal purpose and, 127. See also Affective commitment
Organizational culture: definition of, 346; diversity and, 94; HRD and, 4–5; HRD professionals and, 345–346; training transfer and, 96–97; workplace attire and, 345–347, 356
Organizational development (OD): definition of, 211; organizational change and, 211–212; organizational learning and, 212; organizational performance and, 211
Organizational learning (OL): individual and team learning and, 219; knowledge economy and, 212; development and, 212; organizational objectives and, 212; social process of, 566; storytelling and, 565–566; team and individual learning and, 219–220, 224–225. See also Organizational learning, in high-technology firms (case study)
Organizational learning, in high-technology firms (study): conclusion, 225; congruence of OL concepts and, 219; data analysis, 216–218; discussion, 223–225; findings, 218–223; future research, 224–225; implementation process and, 218–219; improving organizational performance and, 222; individual learning and, 220, 224–225; interview participants, 216; knowledge management system and, 220–222; language usage and, 218–219; learning process and, 219–222; literature review, 214–215; organizational development and, 211–213; organizational learning and, 211–212, 214, 222–223; organizational performance and, 211, 222, 225; participant organizations, 215–216; practice contributions, 224; purposes, 212; research methods, 215–218; research procedures, 216; research questions, 213, 218–222; team learning and, 224–225; theoretical framework, 213–214
"Organizational Learning as an Organization L :lopment Intervention in Six High-Technology Firms in Taiwan: An Exploratory Case Study," 211–228
Organizational performance: job training and, 494; organizational development and, 211; organizational learning and, 222, 225
Organizations: analyzing dreams/goals and, 1; challenges of diversity to, 92, 94; current context/trends of, 1–2; diversity climate of, 94. See also Nonprofit organizations (NPOs); Organizational culture; Organizational learning (OL); Organizational development (OD); Organizational performance

P

Pattni, I., "The Impact of a Short Self-Management Training Intervention in a Retail Banking Environment," 159–178
Peluchette, J. V., "The Impact of Workplace Attire on Employee Self-Perceptions," 345–360
"Perceived Purposes of Performance Appraisal: Correlates of Individual- and Position-Focused Purposes on Attitudinal Outcomes," 315–343
Performance. See Employee performance; Organizational performance; Performance appraisals
Performance appraisals: administrative, 123, 125, 133–134; bias in, 236–237,

316; Campbell's job performance model and, 318; changes in job responsibilities and, 319–320; developmental, 123, 125, 133–134; differential relationships among purposes of, 321–325; employee acceptance and, 323–324; employee attitudes and, 317–318; as feedback for managers, 236; feedback sign and, 125; feedback tone and, 125; individual-focused, 316, 318, 320; instrumental voice and, 324–325; job satisfaction and, 124–127, 129, 131; KSAs and, 318; motivation and, 318; position-focused, 317, 319–320; purpose of, and outcomes and, 125–126; purposes of, 123–124, 315–316; race/ethnicity and, 236–238; ratings and, 316–317; resource-based view or organizations and, 316; resource-focused, 316–317; role definition purpose of, 318, 320–321; studies on, 122. See also Electronic performance monitoring (EPM); Employee performance; Monitoring; Performance appraisals; Performance appraisals, purposes of (study)

Performance appraisals, purposes of (study): analyses of results, 328–334; competitive advantage and, 316–317, 337; dependent variables, 322–325, 327–328, 331–332; differential relationships among purposes of, 321–325; discussion, 334–339; effects of administrative purpose on dependent variables and, 323–324; effects of developmental purpose on dependent variables and, 324; effects of role definition purpose on dependent variables and, 324–325; employee attitudes and, 317–318, 336–337; future research and, 336, 339; hypotheses, 325–326; hypotheses testing with structural equation model and, 332–334; hypothetical model of relationships and, 322 fig.; independent variables, 327, 329–331; individual-focused, 316, 318, 320, 334–335; job satisfaction and commitment and, 322; limitations, 338–339; literature review, 318–325; measures, 327–328; method, 326–328; participants, 326; position-focused, 317, 319–320, 334, 337–338; purposes, 317–318, 334–336; relationships among dependent variables and, 322–323; relationships among three distinct purposes and, 323, 335–336; relevance for HRD professionals of, 316, 336–338; research questions, 325; resource-focused, 316–317, 334; role definition and, 318, 320–321, 334, 335–337; strengths of, 338; theories of, 315–316. See also Job satisfaction; Performance appraisals

Performance motivation, personality variables and, 12

Perkins, S. J., Strategic International Human Resource Management: Choices and Consequences in Multinational People Management, reviewed, 443–448

Personal business, on the job. See Nonwork-related presenteeism; Presenteeism

Persuasion approach, to organizational change, 531

"Phenomenological Study of Spirituality and Learning Processes at Work: Exploring the Holistic Theory of Knowledge and Learning, A," 457–480

Phenomenological trends, questions for, 452–453

Planned organizational change: human resistance to, 526, 550; leadership strategies for, 527–530; multidimensional response to, 530, 551; obstacles to, 526; success rate of, 526 See also Planned organizational change, resistance to (study)

Planned organizational change, resistance to (study): change leadership criteria and, 535–536; conclusion, 554; data analysis, 544–545; data collection, 544; dependent variables, 537–538, 553; discussion, 548–551; future research, 552–553; HRD practice implications and, 551–552; HRD practitioners and, 527, 551–552; human resistance and, 526, 550; hypotheses, 532, 534–535, 547; independent variables, 537; leadership strategies of planned change and, 527–529; measures, 538–544; multidimensional response to organizational change and, 530, 548, 551; new research paradigm and, 552; normative-reeducative change leadership strategies, 528–529, 550–551; participant selection criteria and, 535–537; participants, 535; perception of change leadership strategy scale and, 538, 539–540 tab., 540, 553; perception of power-coercive change leadership strategy and, 549; perception of rational-empirical change leadership strategy and, 549; perception of normative-reeducative change leadership strategy and, 549–550; power-coercive change leadership strategies, 529, 532–534, 550–551; procedures, 544–545; purpose, 526–527, 548; rational-empirical change leadership strategies, 527–528, 534–535, 550–551; reaction to organizational change scale and, 540–541; results, 545–548; scope of change criteria and, 536; study conclusions, 550–551; study value and, 554; success rate of organizational change initiatives and, 526; theoretical background, 527–530; theoretical framework, 528 fig.; theory/research implications and, 552–554; time of measurement criteria and, 536–537; Transtheoretical Model of Change and, 536, 553; tripartite model of attitudes and, 530; variables, 537–538. See also Human resistance; Leadership strategies, for planned organizational change; Normative-reeducative change leadership strategies; Organizational change; Planned organizational change; Planned organizational change, resistance to (study); Power-coercive change leadership strategies; Rational-empirical change leadership strategies

Position-focused performance appraisals, 317. See also Performance appraisals

Poverty, in third world countries, 287–289

Power-coercive change leadership strategies: assumptions of, 529; edict strategy and, 534; effectiveness of, 534; philosophical basis of, 529; resistance and, 534; sabotage approaches and, 535

Presentational knowledge, storytelling and, 564–565

Presenteeism: definition of, 362; illness-related, 362, 364, 376; nonwork-related, 362; work-life balance and, 367, 376. See also Nonwork-related presenteeism; Nonwork-related presenteeism, organizational outcomes of (study)

Problem statements, in theory building, 507

Procrastination, presenteeism and, 371, 376

Productivity: needs assessment and, 34; training and, 33–34

Profitability, and diversity management, 92

Promotion: attainment model and, 238; gender and, 238–239; human capital model and, 238–239; internal job markets and, 240; opportunity structure and, 239; race/ethnicity and, 238–240; racial stratification and, 238, 240; training/development opportunities and, 239

Punctuated equilibrium model, of team learning: criticisms of, 422; origins of, 423; stages of, 423

Q

Qualitative data analysis, in HRD research: co-conconstruction of results and, 181, 200, 202–205; conversation analysis approach and, 182, 185–186; ethnomethodology approach and, 182, 185; membership categorization analysis approach and, 185–186; need for multiple analysis techniques in, 181, 204; neopositivist assumptions about, 181, 205; problems with, 180–182; review of approaches and, 183–188; thematic approaches and, 181, 184–185, 204. See also Ethnomethodological approach, to qualitative data analysis (study); HRD research; Qualitative studies

Qualitative studies: in HRD research, 180–181; interviewing and, 180; interviewing and, 180; problems with, 180–182; usefulness of, 180

Queer theory, HRD research and, 154, 157

Questionnaires/surveys: advantages and drawbacks of, 149–151. See also Online surveys

R

Race theories: class-based, 231; nation-based, 231; race-based, 231

Race/ethnicity: career development and, 234–235; community theory and, 244;

definition of, 230, 276; diversity training and, 230; historical background of, 230–231; job training and, 236, 238–239; leadership development and, 277–278; mentoring and, 240–242; performance appraisals and, 236–238; promotions and, 238–240; race relations workshops and, 278; research design for studies on, 244; research questions in studies on, 244; social constructivist perspective of, 230–231; social network theory and, 244; social networks and, 235, 242–243; theoretical approaches to, 244–245; theories of, 231. See also Diversity; Diversity training; Workplace learning, and race/ethnicity (study); Race theories

Rational discourse: Mezirow's conditions for, 564; storytelling and, 564

Rational-empirical change leadership strategies: accommodation approach and, 531; bargaining approach and, 531; edict tactic and, 531, 534; facilitative strategy and, 531; incentive approach and, 531; influence behavior and, 531; intervention tactic and, 531; participation tactic and, 531; persuasion approach and, 531; persuasive strategy and, 531; philosophical origins of, 527–528; power strategy and, 531, 551; premises of, 528; success of, 531

"Reactions to Skill Assessment: The Forgotten Factor in Explaining Motivation to Learn," 33–62

Reflection. See Critical reflection

"Relationship Between Satisfaction with Workplace Training and Overall Job Satisfaction, The," 481–498

Research, publication of: checklist for, 144–147; factors involved in, 140; journal acceptance rates and, 139–140; key qualities in, 140; networking and, 140; peer review process and, 140–142; reasons for rejection and, 142–143. See also HRD research

Resource-based view of organization, 316–317

Resource-focused performance appraisals, 316–317. See also Performance appraisals

Reviews: Free Online Surveys Knowledgebase, 149–151; How Organizations Work: Taking a Holistic Approach to Enterprise Health, 281–284; The Seminal Foundation of the Discipline of HRD: People, Learning, and Organizations, 431–442

Right-brained thinking, organizational value of, 253

Roberts, P. B., review by, 281–284

Rocco, T. S., "A Phenomenological Study of Spirituality and Learning Processes at Work: Exploring the Holistic Theory of Knowledge and Learning," 457–480

Role definition: definition of, 320; job satisfaction and, 322–324; Management by Objectives and, 321; organizational behavior theory and, 320–321; performance appraisals and, 318; supervisor role and, 321

Role execution, workplace attire and, 347–348

"Rosie the Riveter: A Training Perspective," 589–597

Rosie-the-Riveter model, of training: background and, 590–592; classroom training and, 594; demographics and, 592; differences in training delivery and training outcomes and, 589, 596; historical record and, 592; job methods training, 593; job relations training, 593; lessons learned from, 595–596; on-the-job training and, 594; program development, 593; propaganda campaign and, 591; sexist issues and, 593–594; training approaches and, 593–594; training questions and, 595; training venues and, 594–595; Training Within Industry program and, 592–593; vestibule training and, 594; women in war industries and, 590–591; Women in War Industries report and, 593–594

Roulston, K. J., "An Alternative Approach to Conceptualizing Interviews in HRD Research," 179–210

Rowold, J., "The Impact of Personality on Training-Related Aspects of Motivation: Test of a Longitudinal Model," 9–31

S

Sacred, spirituality and, 458

Scenario-planning model of conceptual development (Chermack), 503, 505 fig.; application of, 515; description of, 512–515; integrated conceptual development method model and, 519 fig.; limitations of, 515; 1: identify the issue,

513; step 2: identify key factors, 513; step 3: research driving forces, 513; step 4: rank key factors and driving forces, 513; step 5: develop scenario logics, 513–514; step 6: develop scenario details, 514; step 7: consider implications, 514; strengths of, 515
Schmidt, S. W., "The Relationship Between Satisfaction with Workplace Training and Overall Job Satisfaction," 481–498
Scholar-Practitioner Committee of AHRD, 451
Scholar-practitioners: AHRD committee on, 451; as bridge for HRD, 449, 455; increasing attention for, 449
Selection criteria, in theory building, 508–509
Self-efficacy: confidence and, 97; decision making and, 96; definition of, 93, 162; intentions and, 95–96; motivation to learn and, 42, 46, 55; organizational importance of, 162–163; research on, 95; self-management and, 161–162; training transfer and, 93, 95, 390; in workplace, 98; work performance and, 93. See also Diversity self-efficacy (DSE); Diversity training, self-efficacy and (study)
Self-management: behavior-modification model and, 160; change agents and, 160; corporate advantages of, 160; definition of, 159–160; as learnable, 161; performance and, 162–163; as posttraining intervention, 159; self-efficacy and, 161–162; steps in applying, 160–161. See also Self-management training, in banking industry (study)
Self-management training: organizational benefits of, 175; questions about, 160; training transfer and, 159, 174
Self-management training, in banking industry (study): banking customer service and, 163; data collection, 166–167; design, 163–164; discussion, 172–176; employee performance and, 162, 169–172–175; ethical issues and, 175–176; future research, 174–175; generalizability and, 175; Hawthorne effect and, 173; hypotheses, 162–163; learning and, 161, 167–169, 171–172; limitations, 174–175; measures, 167–171; method, 163–171; other explanations for results and, 173–174; participants, 164; practice implications, 175–176; procedures, 166; results, 171–172; sampling, 164–166; self-efficacy and, 161–162, 169, 172, 174; self-management and, 159–161; setting, 163; sharing of work/knowledge and, 174; spillover effect and, 174; training time frame and, 173
Self-perception theory, self-evaluation frameworks and, 349
Self-perceptions. See Employees, self-perceptions of; Workplace attire, and employee self-perceptions (study)
"Seminal Foundation of the Discipline of HRD: People, Learning, and Organizations, The," 431–442
Sharing: definition of, 566; storytelling and, 566
Shortland, S. M., Strategic International Human Resource Management: Choices and Consequences in Multinational People Management, reviewed, 443–448
Skill assessment: ACT tool for, 34; IBM model for, 34; strategic planning and, 34. See also Motivation to learn, and skill assessment reactions (study); Needs assessment
Social exchange theory, employee commitment and, 324
Social interdependence: importance of, 254; studies on, 254. See also Interpersonal interaction; Online professional development, and interpersonal interaction (study)
Social network theory, race/ethnicity and, 244
Social networks: bonding relationships and, 243; career advancement and, 243; career development and, 242; gender and, 242–243; network groups and, 243; race/ethnicity and, 242–243; status construction theory and, 242; workplace survival and, 235
Social presence: Community of Inquiry Model and, 256; definition of, 255; importance of, 255; types of, in online settings, 256. See also Interpersonal interaction
Social/collaborative learning, 254
Soutar, G. N., "The Impact of a Short Self-Management Training Intervention in a Retail Banking Environment," 159–178

Spirituality: definitions of, 457–458; ethical/aesthetic components of, 458, 478; in HRD literature, 457; learning climate and, 458, 478; sacred and, 458; trend from seeking to practicing, 458. See also Learning at work, and spirituality (study); Spirituality, in the workplace

Spirituality, in the workplace: adult learners and, 458; career decisions and, 458; corporate accountability and, 458; holistic learning theory and, 458–459; working relationships and, 458. See also Learning at work, and spirituality (study)

Stages-of-development (SOD) model, of team learning: criticisms of, 422; origins of, 423; periods of stability and, 423–424; transition point and, 423, 425

Storberg-Walker, J., "Four Methods for Completing the Conceptual Development Phase of Applied Theory Building Research in HRD," 499–524; Understanding the Conceptual Development Phase of Applied Theory-Building Research: A Grounded Approach," 63–90

Storytelling: for children, 561, 566; critical reflection and, 563–564, 582; critical thinking and, 563–564; dialogue-based approach to, 565; experiential learning and, 565; for adults, 566–567; guidebooks for, 567; indigenous, 561; meaning making and, 566; as narratives, 565–566; as observational learning, 563; in organizations, 567; as presentational knowledge, 564–565; rational discourse and, 564; archiving of, 582–583; transformative learning and, 563–564. See also Strategic storytelling; Strategic storytelling, by HRD practitioners (study)

Strategic International Human Resource Management: Choices and Consequences in Multinational People Management, reviewed, 443–448

Strategic planning: HRD and, 3–4; skill assessment and, 34

Strategic storytelling: competitive advantage and, 561; as education tool in organizations, 559; HRD practitioners as helpers in, 563; literature on, 560–561; as organic force in organizations, 559–560; range of organizational activities for, 567. See also Storytelling; Strategic storytelling, by HRD practitioners (study)

Strategic storytelling, by HRD practitioners (study): adult learning and, 563–565; archiving/dissemination and, 578–580; critical reflection and dialogue and, 583; data analysis, 570–571; data collection methods, 568–569; discussion, 580–584; distinguishing features of, 559, 580; finding/selecting stories and, 581–582; findings, 571; foundational activities and, 572–576; future research, 584; HRD capacity building and, 583; HRD implications and, 583–584; implementation in practice and, 580–581; instrumentation, 569–571; knowledge management and, 565–566; listener reflection/ dialogue and, 559, 580; literature review and, 560–561, 563–567; locating/ selecting stories and, 574–576; marketing the process and, 572–574; methods, 567–569; organizational goals and, 559, 580; organizational learning and, 565–566; performance preparation and, 576–577; posttelling reflection/dialogue and, 577–578; poststory facilitation/ dissemination and, 582–583; posttelling activities and, 577–580; purpose, 561; research design, 567–568; research limitations and, 571; research questions, 561; sample population, 568; scholar-practitioner research and, 584; story spaces and, 582; theoretical background, 561, 563–566; theoretical framework, 562 tab. See also HRD practitioners; Storytelling; Strategic storytelling

"Strategies for Publishing in Scholarly HRD Journals," 139–147

Szabla, D. B., "A Multidimensional View of Resistance to Organizational Change: Exploring Cognitive, Emotional, and Intentional Responses to Planned Change Across Perceived Change Leadership Strategies," 525–558

T

Taiwanese technology firms. See Organizational learning, in high-technology firms (case study)

Team learning/development models, a comparison: criticisms of, 422; development of dysfunctional norms and, 424–425; HRD implications and, 427–428; inertia and, 426–427; intermodel dynamics and, 242; interventions and, 426–427; multiple transition points and, 427; propositions for integrating, 424–427; punctuated equilibrium model and, 423–424; reflection and analysis period and, 425–426; relational conflict and, 424; stages-of-development model and, 423; task conflict and, 424–425; time as a variable and, 422; transition point analysis and, 425; transition point occurrence and, 425

Teams: increasing use in organizations of, 421, 428; organizational learning and, 219, 224–225; research on effectiveness of, 421. See also Punctuated equilibrium model, of team development; Stages-of-development (SOD) model, of team development; Team learning/development models, a comparison

Technology, nonwork-related presenteeism and, 366–367. See also E-learning

Theory-building research: conceptual development and, 64, 499–500; grounded theory and, 63–65, 69; importance of, 499; multiparadigm theory-building research process and, 71–75; need for explicit theory-building research and, 63–64; practitioners' use of, 502; problem statements and, 507; selection criteria and, 508–509; theorists' assumptions and, thought trials and, 507–508; value-laden component in, 500. See also Applied theory-building research, conceptual development phase of (study); Conceptual development phase, grounded approach to (study); Conceptual development phase, methods for completing

Theory-building-as-disciplined-imagination model (Weick), 503, 505 fig.; application of, 509; limitations of, 509–510; problem statements and, 507; selection criteria and, 508–509; strengths of, 509; thought trials and, 507–508

Third world countries, HRD in, 285

Thought trials, in theory building, 507–508

Training design: basic principles of, 390; conditions of practice and, 390–391; general principles and, 390; identical elements and, 390; stimulus variability and, 390–391; training transfer and, 390–391

Training/development: career decisions and, 482; costs of, 391; definition of, 483; enhancing motivation and, 10; impact of race/ethnicity on, 236; importance of training context and, 589, 595–596; influences on, 10; instructional system design and, 149; motivation to transfer and, 10–11; pre- and posttraining motivation and, 9–10; productivity and, 33–34; satisfaction with, 482; trainees' individual differences and, 9; training design and, 9; training research and, 9. See also Diversity training; Diversity training, self-efficacy and (study); Formal training; Job training; Job training satisfaction, and job satisfaction (study); Leadership development; Management training/development; Motivation, training-related aspects of; Motivation to learn, and skill assessment reactions (study); Online professional development, and interpersonal interaction (study); Rosie-the-Riveter model, of training; Self-management training; Training motivation, personality variables and (study); Training transfer

Training motivation, personality variables and (study): agreeableness and, 12, 15–16; attitudes toward training and, 11, 19, 25; Big Five personality variables and, 11–12, 14–16, 25–28; conscientiousness and, 12, 16, 24; context, 17–18; definition of terms and, 10; discussion, 24–29; future research, 29; hypotheses, 12–17; influences of personality on trainees' motivation and, 14–16; instability and, 12, 15, 24; introversion and, 12, 14–15; limitations, 28–29; method, 17–20; motivation to learn and, 10–11, 13–14, 17, 19, 24–27; motivation to transfer and, 10–11, 13, 20; openness to experience and, 12, 16, 24; practice implications, 27–28; procedure, 20; relationship between different aspects of trainees' motivation and, 12–14;

research background and, 9–10; results, 21–24; sample, 18–19; theoretical implications, 26–27; theoretical model and, 12–17; training-related aspects of, 10–11; variables, 19–20
Training transfer: conditions of, 389; definitions of, 389–390; environmental favorability and, 391; factors in, 96–97; generalization of material learned and, 389; HRD input factors and, 390; instrument validation and, 386; interventions and, 414; LTSI instrument and, 386–387, 413–415; maintenance of behavior and, 389; motivation and, 390; organizational climate and, 95, 114, 390; percentage of, 392; personality factors and, 390; psychosocial influences on, 93; self-efficacy and, 93, 95, 390; self-management training, 159, 174; social support and, 391; trainee ability and, 390; trainee characteristics/attitudes and, 97, 390; trainee cognitive processes and, 93, 390; training climate and, 391–392; training content and, 391; training design and, 390–391; training outcomes and, 390; training tasks and, 391; transfer environment and, 391; transfer system and, 391; work environment and, 390–391. See also Diversity training, self-efficacy and (study); Learning transfer system inventory (LTSI); Training transfer
Training Within Industry (TWI) training programs, job instruction training, 593
Transactive memory system (TMS), performance and, 175
Transfer of learning/training. See Training transfer
Transformative learning, critical thinking and, 563–564
Tripartite model, of attitudes, 530
Tyler, J. A., "Incorporating Storytelling into Practice: How HRD Practitioners Foster Strategic Storytelling," 559–587

U

Ulrich, D., "Dreams: Where Human Resource Development Is Headed to Deliver Value," 1–8
"Understanding Interpersonal Interaction in an Online Professional Development Course," 253–274
"Understanding the Conceptual Development Phase of Applied Theory-Building Research: A Grounded Approach," 63–90

V

Value focus, of HRD: challenges and, 3–7; definition of, 2; HRD stakeholders and, 2; organizational goals and, 2–3; stakeholders and, 2
Values, definition of, 2. See also Value focus, of HRD
Vision: dreams and, 1; of HRD future, 2 HRD and, 1–2
Visual learners, HRD practitioners as, 453

W

Wang, J., "An Alternative Approach to Conceptualizing Interviews in HRD Research," 179–210
Wells, D. L, "The Impact of the Perceived Purpose of Electronic Performance Monitoring on an Array of Attitudinal Variables," 121–138
Werner, J. M., "The Impact of the Perceived Purpose of Electronic Performance Monitoring on an Array of Attitudinal Variables," 121–138
"Where to Now? Race and Ethnicity in Workplace Learning and Development Research: 1980–2005," 229–251
Whicker, S., review by, 149–151
Women: career development of black, 235; job training of, 236; race/ethnicity and, 235–236, 238–239. See also Gender; Lesbian, gay, bisexual, and transgender (LGBT) people; Rosie-the-Riveter model, of training
Work-leisure balance, 365. See also Work-life balance
Work-life balance: boundaries of, 364–365; HRD and, 365, 367, 376, 378; integration and, 364; literature on, 364; nonwork-related presenteeism and, 364–365, 367, 376; programs promoting, 365; work-leisure balance and, 365

Workplace: employee learning and, 485; employee mobility in, 485; employee perceptions of, 317–318; temporary employees in, 496. See also Spirituality, in the workplace
Workplace attire: company brand image and, 346–347; employee self-perceptions and, Internet casual, 345; organizational culture and, 345–347, 353–354, 356; others' perceptions of, 347; performance and, 349, 353, 355; personality and, 355–356; power and, 237–238; return to formal, 345; role execution and, 347–348; self-perception theory and, 349; training programs and, 356–357; work ethic and, 349–350. See also Workplace attire, and employee self-perceptions (study)
Workplace attire, and employee self-perceptions (study): analyses, 352; discussion, 353–357; dress style preferences and, 348–349, 351–355; employee performance and, 349, 353, 355; future research and, 355–356; HRD professionals and, 345–346, 356–357; measures, 351–352; methods, 350–352; need for research and, 346; organizational culture and, 345–347, 354, 356; personality and, 355–356; purpose, 346; research questions and, 350; results, 352–353; role execution and, 347–348; sample, 350–351, 355; self-perceptions and behavior and, 355–356; self-perceptions and, 349–351, 353, 355; study implications and, 356–357; study limitations and, 355–356. See also Workplace attire
Workplace diversity: HRD role and, 275–276; increase in, 91; initiatives about, 92; leadership challenges of, 276; LGBT issues and, 153–158; organizational challenges of, racial challenges and, 276; ways of framing, 230. See also Diversity; Diversity training
Workplace learning: career development and, 232, 234–235. See also Learning at work, and spirituality (study); Learning/development; Training/development
Workplace learning, and race/ethnicity (study): caveats, 246; conclusions, 243–246; diversity and, 231–232; future research, 244, 246; global economy and, 485; inadequacy of research questions and, 244; learning/development and, 232–233; mentoring and, 240–242; method, 233–234; performance appraisal and, 236–238; promotion and, 238–240; purpose, 243; race/ethnicity and, 230–231; research designs for, 245; social networks and, 242–243; theoretical approaches to, 244–245; training and, 236. See also Career development, and race/ethnicity; Diversity training; Learning/development; Management training; Training transfer
World peace, globalization and, 287–288, 290

Y

Yamkovenko, V. B., "Convergent and Divergent Validity of the Learning Transfer System Inventory," 385–419
Yap, R., "Is HRD Research Making a Difference in Practice?" 449–455
Youngcourt, S. S., "Perceived Purposes of Performance Appraisal: Correlates of Individual- and Position-Focused Purposes on Attitudinal Outcomes," 315–343